

Little Dixie's "Slave Cabin Project"

Slave quarters in Lexington and rural Lafayette County, Missouri

Joseph McGill

African American researcher, historian, preservationist, living history interpreter / re-enactor

"Slave Cabin Project"

on slave life and his experiences with this project and

Gary Fuenfhausen

Historian, architectural and museum consultant, Historic Preservationist,

Little Cabins: Slave Dwelling Architecture in Missouri's Little Dixie

Saturday, April 23, 2011

Battle of Lexington State Historic Site 1101 Delaware Street, Lexington, Missouri

10:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.

The event is free and open to the public

Sponsored by Missouri's Little Dixie Heritage Foundation and Financial support from the Missouri Humanities Council

*Exploring Our Heritage
Shaping Our Community*